

You have to taste the difference.

Hello, my friendly neighborhood produce buyer,

I recently ate some amazing citrus from Ripe to You®. I don't see their products in your store, and I wanted you to know that you're missing out. Their fruit is responsibly grown in Central California and fantastically sweet.

Would you please look into adding their products to your store? Get in touch with them and ask them to send you some samples so you can taste the difference. Here is their contact info.
